Tou Vang and Ong Yang have 4 children. Tou works full time and Ong is a former Medical Assistant who now stays home to raise her young children. They, along with their 4-children, live in a 2-bedroom apartment. Says Ong, "My oldest is in the living room. She sleeps on the sofa. My other children sleep with me and Tou." The couple has long wanted to provide a home for their family, but couldn't afford it. Additionally, due to their income the family has had to move constantly. Says Ong, "It's the American Dream, everyone wants to own a house. Even just the idea of this house has given my children a lot of pride. And that's the main reason I've always wanted a house, my kids. Being involved with Habitat has changed my life. "
